PGI Insulated Glass Limited Liability Warranty

All Precision Glass Industries insulated units carry a ten (10) year limited warranty beginning from the date of fabrication or completion of a project where specified. The warranty covers usage under normal conditions, that the interior surface of the unit will not have moisture, dust or dirt. Any physical damage or breakage of any sort is not covered under PGI's limited warranty. PGI warranty will cover the cost of the unit and excludes any costs of labor and other materials as part of the replacement of the specific units. All Precision Glass Industries products are intended for installation by trained personnel with the required skills and to handle, install or use glass related products in accordance with the instructions set forth by the National Glass Association (NGA) and Glass Association of North America (GANA) <http://www.glasswebsite.com/> and PGI. If the associated compounds used in installation are incompatible with our glass sealants, the defective units will void the warranty. Precision Glass Industries makes no other warranty either express or implied.

This warranty will be void under following conditions if:

- Glazed in a high-moisture area, around pools, hot tubs and similar environments.
- Units are not vertically glazed i.e. sloped glazed or customized orientation applications will be not warranted.
- Not supported mechanically on all sides, unless specified as "silicone sealed."
- Glazing system is installed that lacks a weep system to avoid and prevent any water accumulation as a result of the glazing cavity; and if system does not provide a minimum of (7/16) stop coverage to protect sealant from Ultra Violet (UV) rays.
- Further application of any additional film applied either to the interior or exterior of the insulated units.
- Laminated glass is damages due to contact with incompatible glazing sealants, cleaners or other solvents.
- If the size of the unit exceeds 50ft²
